Stilly Valley Youth Project

Background:
- Stillaguamish Valley is in desperate need of infrastructure improvements after the March 22, 2014 landslide
- Snohomish County’s Objective is to aid in making this region whole again by supporting economic development and community projects
- The Stilly Valley Youth Project will expand and improve recreational and athletic use facilities in Arlington and Darrington

Objective:
- To support long-term community development, enhance quality of life, and create new opportunities to draw in more visitors for athletic and recreational events

Status:
- Governor Inslee toured the Arlington Boys & Girls Club and was briefed on the Stilly Valley Youth Project’s initial phases. Snohomish County has received feedback that the Governor was intrigued by the proposal. Since the governor’s visit, Snohomish County and our partners have identified potential land availability, use estimates, infrastructure and maintenance costs, funding resources, and areas of greatest need. Snohomish County will proceed with this project by requesting up to $5.25 million in the State 2015 Capital Budget to support the project

Costs:
- Upgrade the existing field and lighting at Darrington High School, install a new all-weather track and renovate the design, engineer, and construct a new multi-purpose athletic room $1,850,000 (Darrington High School)
- Expand Gymnasium and renovate the Arlington Boys & Girls Club Facility (including the addition of the Arlington Family Resource Center) $1,500,000 (City of Arlington)
- Renovate two Tennis Courts, Sports Courts, Old School Park upgrades and design, engineering and construction of a new Skate Park facility $515,000 (Town of Darrington)
- Design, engineer and construct new restrooms and shower facilities expanding camping opportunities at White Horse Community Park $643,000 (Snohomish County Parks)
- Renovate two existing ball fields and construction of two new ball fields, Stilly Valley Little League $742,000 (City of Arlington)

Total Request: $5,250,000

Together we are Oso strong. Thank you!
